

10000 Maniacs - Beyond The Blue

I was thinking today if you would remember you choose to remember what you left me out there in the cold days fading away I see you so near I hear your voice calling it calls me from these pages to you beyond the blue, so sudden too soon the secrets we knew I was thinking today if you would surrender to feelings that you tried deserting and if given the choice I'd still wait for the moment still wait for the moment when I could have a hero like you days fading away but I see you so clear I hear your voice calling it calls me from these pages to you